PuppyPages offers general dog care information as an educational tool.

PuppyPages is an independent resource. We try to have an unbiased opinion. We do support pet industry businesses however we are not sponsored by any vet clinics, pet food manufacturers or animal welfare groups.

PuppyPages was founded and run by Suzanna Greendale. Suzanna has a background in the animal industry and the digital space.

PuppyPages does have an experienced and passionate group of vet nurses, dog trainers, behaviorists, pet photographers, microchippers and everything in between that help to fact check, answer reader questions and share their knowledge by writing guest posts. We also accept guest posts from members of the public and from copywriters.

HELPING YOU TO CARE FOR YOUR PUPPY AT ALL STAGES OF ITS LIFE.

Do you work in the animal or pet industry with a passion for dogs? or a copywriter that loves writing about dogs?

We are always looking for informative articles in the form of guest posts for our PuppyPages readers, providing that they are unique and not published elsewhere, on topics such as puppy health, care and training. Our main requirement is that submissions are useful, educational or entertaining.

Even if you have the knowledge and experience but are not a writer, we're happy to help out. We review and help format every submission.

We're also happy to share articles, promotions and pictures on our Facebook page. We're all about spreading awareness and helping out our fellow pet industry colleagues.

All articles are credited with the author details and also shared on our Facebook page.

Some topic ideas for articles:
- What to Look For in a Boarding Kennel
- Dogs and Car Travel
- Fleas
- Dogs That Don't Shed
- How To Stop Your Dog Pulling On The Lead
- Introduction to Training Your Dog and other Taining Related Topics
- Health Issues
- Breed Specific Information

https://www.puppypages.com.au/guest-contributors/

Guidelines

- All articles must be unique and not published elsewhere on topics such as puppy/dog health, care and training (We do not publish articles that are unrelated to canines). Articles must not violate any copyrights of others.

- Articles must be informative to our readers. Professional yet friendly tone.

- Article Credit: Please supply a short bio for the end of your article. A photo or logo, name, business name, link and industry experience.

- Only include relevant links to reputable sources. Exact match anchor text and links will be removed.

- We reserve the right to edit all articles as needed which includes grammar, formatting and misspellings.

- Articles should be written using Australian English (not American English).

- If you have an accompanying image for the article please include the credit and make sure that it is available for commercial use.